F.F.A. (food for all!)

Who am I helping?

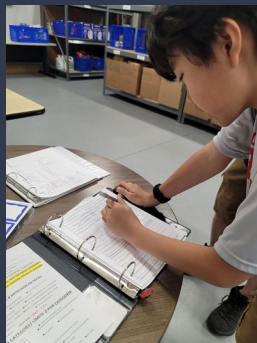

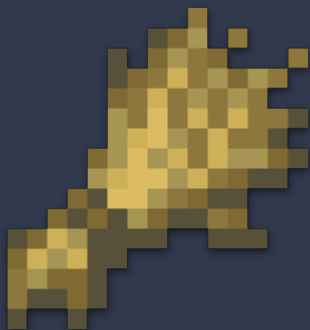

That's the North Gwinnett Co-op right there!

Well, it's the North Gwinnett Co-op. This organization is basically a food donation organization. My main goal is to get fruits and vegetables donated to the North Gwinnett Co-op so that people can have access to food, even if they have no money.

What am I doing to help?

That's me knocking on the door of the North Gwinnett Co-op and preparing to DONAIT!

Now the donation is official!

Harvest Gwinnett is an organization founded in 2019 to help people without money have food. It's part of Live Healthy Gwinnett. Harvest Gwinnett has many community gardens across Gwinnett County, some of which my mom has a part in tending to. There's corn, yams, and more. My goal is to donate them to the NORTH GWINNETT CO-OP!!!!!!!

When am I doing this?

That's me with a LOT of peppers.

Actually, I'm doing this right now! On October 28th, I harvested a lot of sweet potatoes, potatoes, peppers and chilis, and Italian parsley (that last one was extras from our garden.). Right now, I'm planning to harvest more to give away!

Where am I helping?

POTATO.

Donate peppers ~~to be eaten~~

Don't forget the parsley. Definitely don't forget the parsley.

First, the E. E. Robinson community garden. On October 28th, I harvested potatoes and peppers, and also helped plant some trees and lettuce! Second, the North Gwinnett Co-op. I already donated the crops I harvested to there, and am planning to donate more!
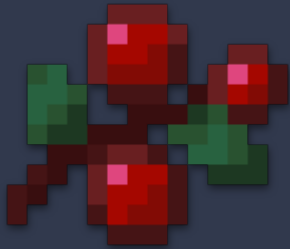

Why am I doing this?

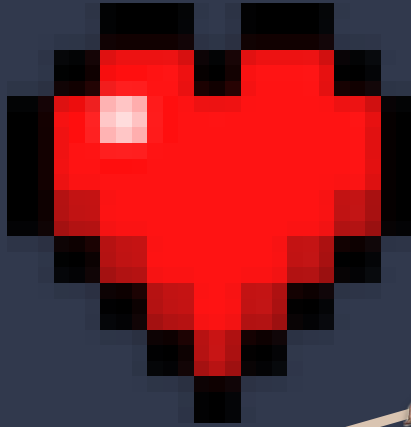

There should always be more trees to go around!

I am doing this because I want people that have limited access to food have as much (good) food as the people who have much more money. Also, helping at the community garden is fun, and everyone can and/or must take a part in helping Gwinnett. After all, what would happen if there was no one that ran the community gardens, took care of the plants, helped the garden, or donated the crops?

How did I do it?

Well, it all started when we first got to our community garden. It was mostly plant caretaking. Then I got in 5th grade, and there was this big GMA project thing. At first, I kind of didn't really want anything to do with it, then I started liking it more. Fast forward to now, I'm contributing to the garden and North Gwinnett Co-op by harvesting and donating crops!

Some special thanks!

1. My mom, for getting us into the garden
2. Harvest Gwinnett, for creating the garden
3. North Gwinnett Co-op, for helping people in need
4. LCES, for creating the GMA Project.
